1981-1982 Community Guide

Artist's Concept

Published by the Foster City Chamber of Commerce.

Looking for a Foster City home?

It's easy... when you know where to look!

Foster City is much more than waterfront settings, sunshine, seawater and sailing.

It's an undeniably sound investment in California real estate—the most appreciated appreciation you'll find anywhere!

From our Foster City office—the very first in the area—we've watched our city grow. We're a 52 year tradition in Bay Area Real Estate. We're the best—and you deserve the best.

Here's what we mean: Before your "house hunting expedition," contact us for our comprehensive "Foster City Homebuyer Package." We'll send you Foster City press clippings, newspaper ad listing samples, individualized sales flyers plus full color brochures which describe all of the San Francisco Bay Area's first quality communities in detail.

And, as a member of the RELO network, we'll also include advance photo listings, maps showing the best residential areas, locations of schools, shopping centers and other public facilities.

We'll help you arrange for lodging, supply necessary transportation—even meet you and your family at the airport.

We know that you'll love your new home in Foster City. And, finding it can be easy... when you know where to look!

The Cover

Antigua by Dividend Development Corporation is the inspiration for artist Phil McDonel's beautiful rendering of Foster City's newest community.

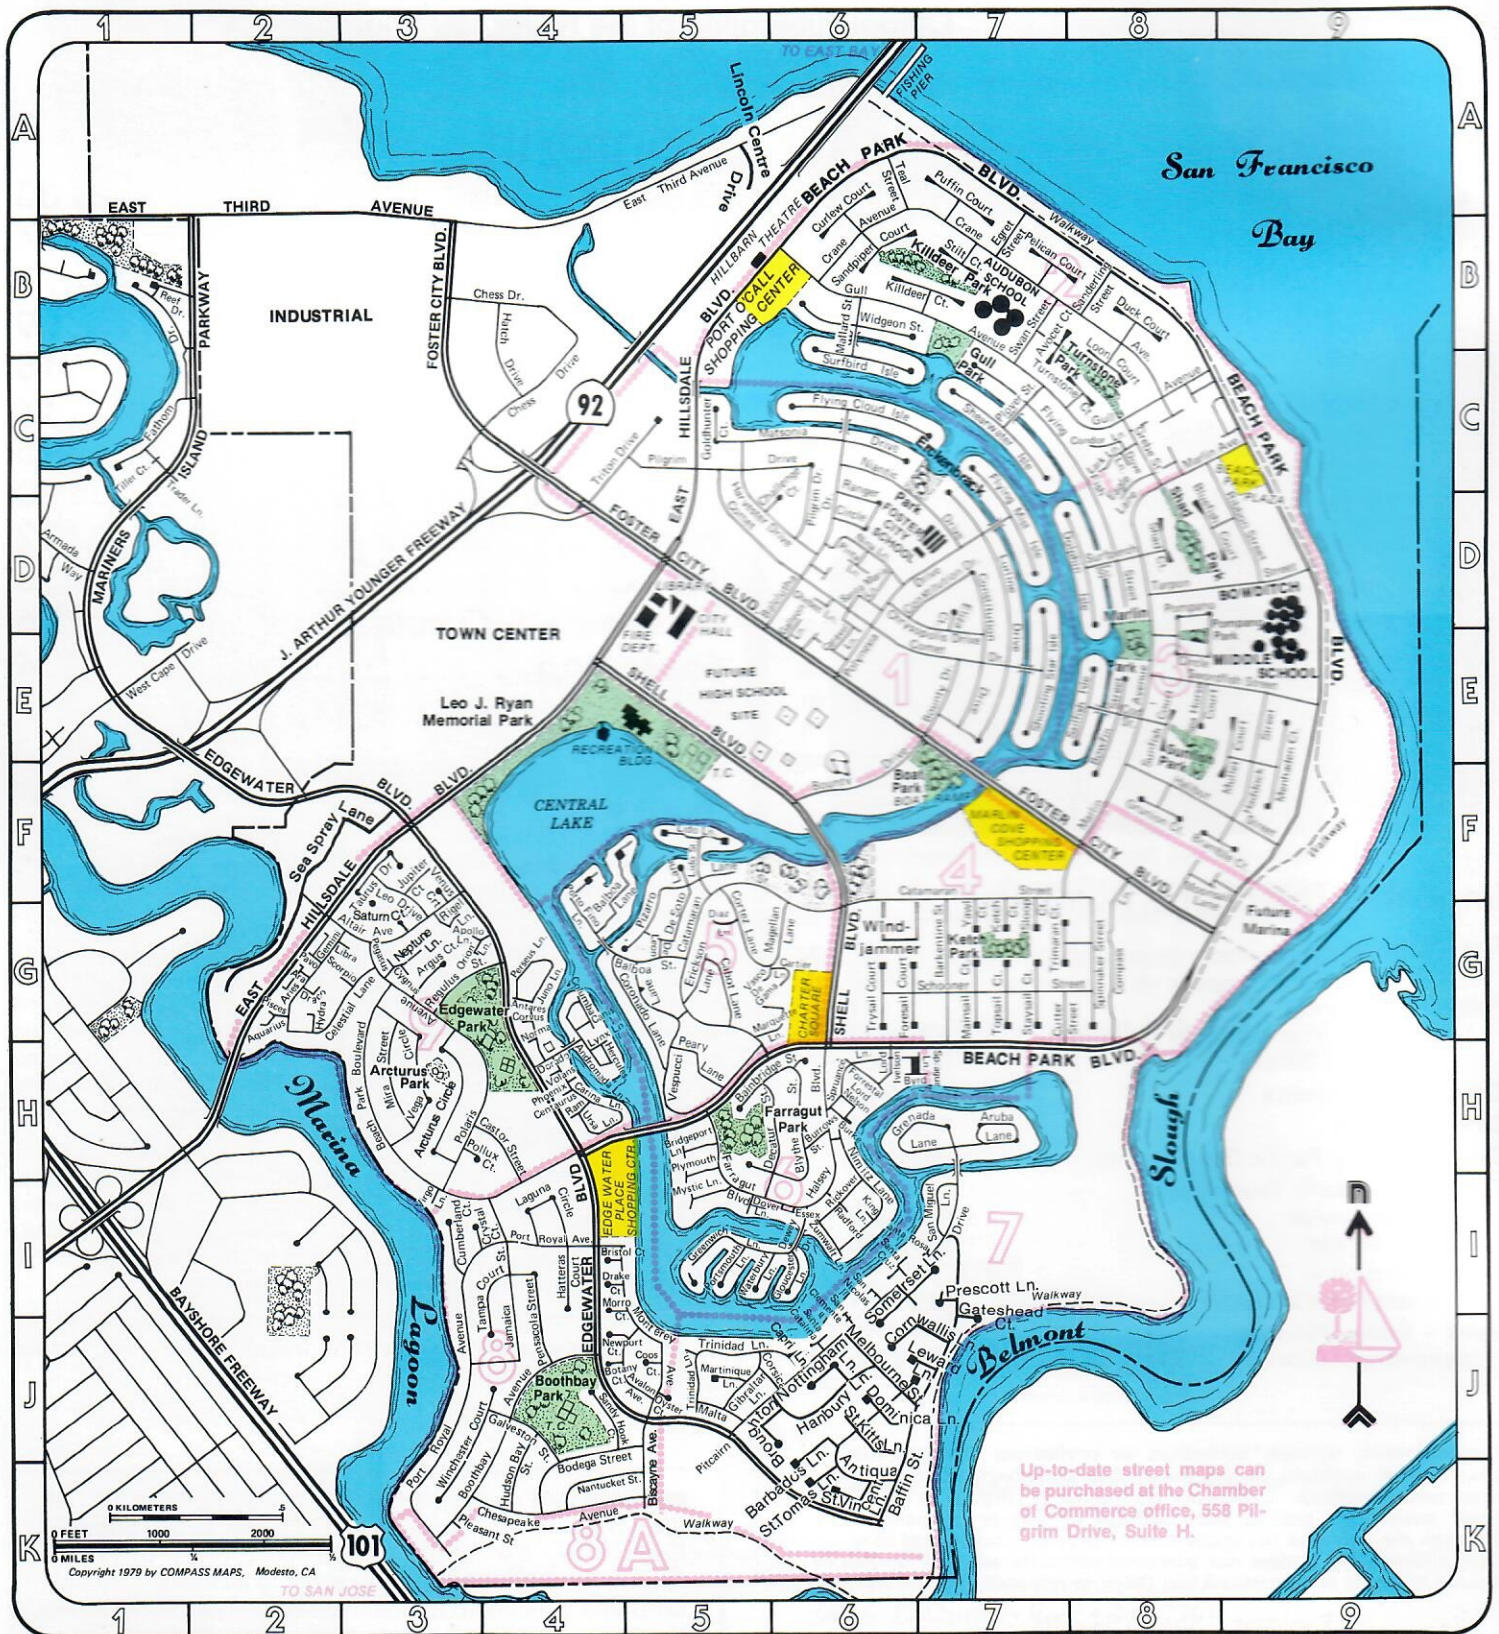

On the front cover is shown one of the homes at Antigua — exterior walls of elegant white stucco capped with a metal rib roof. (Others feature charming red tile roofs.) Inside the homes are intriguing arrangements of living space centering around sunny courtyards or atriums, with free-standing see-through fireplaces soaring through high cathedral ceilings. The silhouette represents some of the many recreational opportunities which make Foster City such a popular place to call home.

On the back cover, the artist takes a bird's eye view of Antigua. This striking new community will include a neighborhood recreational complex where you can swim, play tennis, take a sauna, relax in the jacuzzi or gather with friends in the clubhouse around a fireplace. Above is a typical street scene at Antigua.

Antigua is a project of Dividend Development Corporation of Santa Clara, a subsidiary of Dividend Industries, Inc. For further information call (415) 570-7900.

Foster City: A Community For Everyone

Chamber of Commerce

Presidents' Message

On behalf of the Chamber's members, Board of Directors and Staff, we are proud to present the eighth annual edition of "This is Foster City".

Our community, with its recreational, water-oriented atmosphere is unique. We hope we have been successful in presenting our city with its lovely homes, shopping centers, restaurants, recreational opportunities and cultural offerings. We suggest you keep this Community Guide close at hand for quick reference in locating the many services available in Foster City.

Our Chamber of Commerce has been serving this community since 1972 and we now have approximately 250 members. As the "front door" of the community, we have a large amount of helpful information available at the Chamber office.

This Community Guide is made possible by our members who have supported the Guide through their advertising. We hope you will make a special point of patronizing these businesses.

Sincerely,

Jon B. Grant, D.D.S.
President

Your Chamber

The Foster City Chamber of Commerce is pleased to present this Directory so everyone may become familiar with our businesses and what Foster City has to offer. At the same time, we wish to take this opportunity to welcome new residents and new businesses to our growing community.

The Foster City Chamber of Commerce is a voluntary non-profit organization of business and professional men and women united with the common goal of improving business and building a better community. While it represents businesses and the professions, it also represents people . . . people who care enough about their community to coordinate their efforts so as to achieve this goal.

The Chamber extends an invitation to all members of the business community to invest annually in the Chamber so that they may assist in determining the goals and actions of the Chamber in presenting a united business voice.

The Chamber operates as an information and communications center, welcoming and directing newcomers and visitors as well as answering inquiries from many sources on matters related to our city.

Chamber of Commerce Members 1981-82

The following firms and individuals are members of the Foster City Chamber of Commerce and display their membership plaques with pride. They are good people to do business with and it is good to do business with those who are giving freely of their time and who are financially supporting the Chamber in its many activities to make Foster City a better place to live, to work and to play. Spend your dollars in Foster City, since the key to a healthy community is a happy and prosperous business environment. You will be glad you did.

Foster City contains over 100 acres of park and open space land ranging from bike paths and a par course to a lighted ballfield, including fourteen tennis courts, six of which are lighted for night playing. Our lagoon covers over 200 acres with two large lakes and miles of waterways. There are two free launching ramps for sailboats and windsurfers. (Powerboats are prohibited.)

Recreation programs in the beautiful Community Center, which sits on eight acres overlooking Central Lake, range from preschool programs to a senior citizens club. Activities include sports leagues and classes, sailing, exercise programs, art classes, dance classes and special interest programs ranging from home brewing to interior design.

The Community Center is available for rental by community organizations and individuals and is a popular site for wedding receptions and parties. For information, call the Parks and Recreation Department at 345-5731.

Sailing is one of the main pastimes of local residents and the 13 miles of blue lagoons serve nicely as one of the most pleasant places on the Peninsula to enjoy this sport. Also planned is a marina consisting of approximately 300 berths for larger pleasure craft with access to San Francisco Bay.

As for cultural activities, Foster City leaves little to be desired. It offers a multitude of enjoyable activities throughout the year.

One of the most well known cultural activities is the Foster City Museum Gallery located in the Foster City Recreation Center. It offers shows which change once a month comprising all of the arts including painting, prints, crafts, photography and video. At the opening of each new show there is a reception presenting the artists to the public.

Luz of Foster City School of Art, a private art school, is located in the Bayview Federal Building. Classes in painting, drawing and cartooning are available for children or adults and are offered day and evening. In addition, workshops are held for practicing artists on a monthly basis. Luz Maria Hartley, the School's Director, is an internationally acclaimed artist and her paintings grace the walls of homes in more than fifteen countries.

The Hillbarn, our little theatre, is known throughout the Bay Area, and has been at its permanent home at 1285 E. Hillsdale Blvd. since May of 1968. The theatre has a maximum seating capacity of 225. Throughout the year it offers quality performances and musical comedies featuring top amateur performers in the area.

The Hillbarn's 1981-82 season includes the following: HABEAS CORPUS or "Have Her Body" — a bawdy British farce by Alan Bennett, Sept. 11 through Oct. 17, 1981; A CHRISTMAS CAROL — a new treatment of the Dickens classic, Nov. 6 through Dec. 12, 1981; A DELICATE BALANCE by Edward Albee, Jan. 15 through Feb. 20, 1982; TEN LITTLE INDIANS by Agatha Christie, Mar. 12 through April 17, 1982; and FIRST MONDAY IN OCTOBER by Lawrence & Lee May, May 21 through June 26, 1982.

The Kunzman School of Dance, a professional dance studio, has been located in Foster City for almost a year and offers classes in ballet, tap, jazz and exercise. Classes are available for all ages and all levels of skill. The School is run by Jacquie Kunzman and her daughter, Cyndi Anusewicz. Jacquie has danced professionally across the United States and in Canada and is well known for her teaching in Oregon. Cyndi has studied and danced in New York as well as having danced professionally in San Francisco.

Foster City: A Dream Come True

It was to build a complete new town that the family partnership of T. Jack Foster & Sons acquired, in 1960, the four square miles known as Brewer Island. This land had been reclaimed from the Bay some sixty years earlier, when, under a reclamation district proceeding, levees were built in the mud flats adjacent to San Mateo and the enclosed area was permitted to dry. It was put into cultivation and was a vast hay field at the time of acquisition by the Fosters.

While the future government of the area was uncertain and no one knew if it might incorporate or annex to San Mateo or remain perhaps indefinitely in its unincorporated state, the Fosters dubbed the area Foster City to express the new town design concept that they envisioned for the development. By putting their own name on the community, they were saying, in effect, that this would be an effort that they intended to be immensely proud of. They could not foresee that eleven years later, when the community sought incorporation, the citizens would choose to retain the name which they had given it.

The only access to the island from San Mateo was on Third Avenue, which was the approach to the old San Mateo/Hayward Bridge, which had at that time the toll station on the west side of the Bay. One of the first development decisions was to construct a bridge at Hillsdale Boulevard, thereby providing the second point of access from San Mateo to Foster City. The third point of access came when the State built the 19th Avenue Freeway as the approach to the new San Mateo/Hayward Bridge. This new bridge was built at a cost of eighty million dollars and eliminated the lift section over the deep water channel. The toll plaza was moved to the east side of the Bay in this reconstruction. A section of the old bridge remains today as Werder Pier.

A massive construction operation was necessary to convert the land to a new city. Eighteen million cubic yards of fill were necessary to provide gradient for the storm water runoff and cover for the utility lines as well as support for the buildings. Two hundred and thirty acres of lagoons had to be created to collect the storm water and hold it for pumping into the Bay. Water had to be brought to Foster City through the City of San Mateo from the San Francisco water system at Crystal Springs Road. A complete sewage treatment plant was built with an outfall line carrying the treated effluent over a mile out into the Bay at the deepest part of the channel.

To pay these enormous costs and to operate the city during the early years prior to incorporation or annexation, the State created the Estero Municipal Improvement District. Since there were no residents, the State gave the land owner the right to vote in this District and to authorize the bond issues and to elect the directors. The legislation provided for a gradual turnover of control to the residents as they began occupying the city. In 1967, the Legislature amended this Act in order to accelerate this takeover.

Enough of the land was prepared and utilities extended that construction of homes could commence in late 1963. By the Spring of 1964, these homes were ready for occupancy and the first families started moving in. The growth of Foster City has continued without interruption and at accelerating rates until today it is over two-thirds of the way towards its ultimate population goal of 30,000 people.

T. Jack Foster died in 1968, convinced of the ultimate success of his great venture. His sons continued the development as before with large sales of land to other builders and developers. Finally, in 1970, they sold the remaining vacant land, both developed and undeveloped, to Centex West, Incorporated, a subsidiary of Centex Corporation of Dallas.

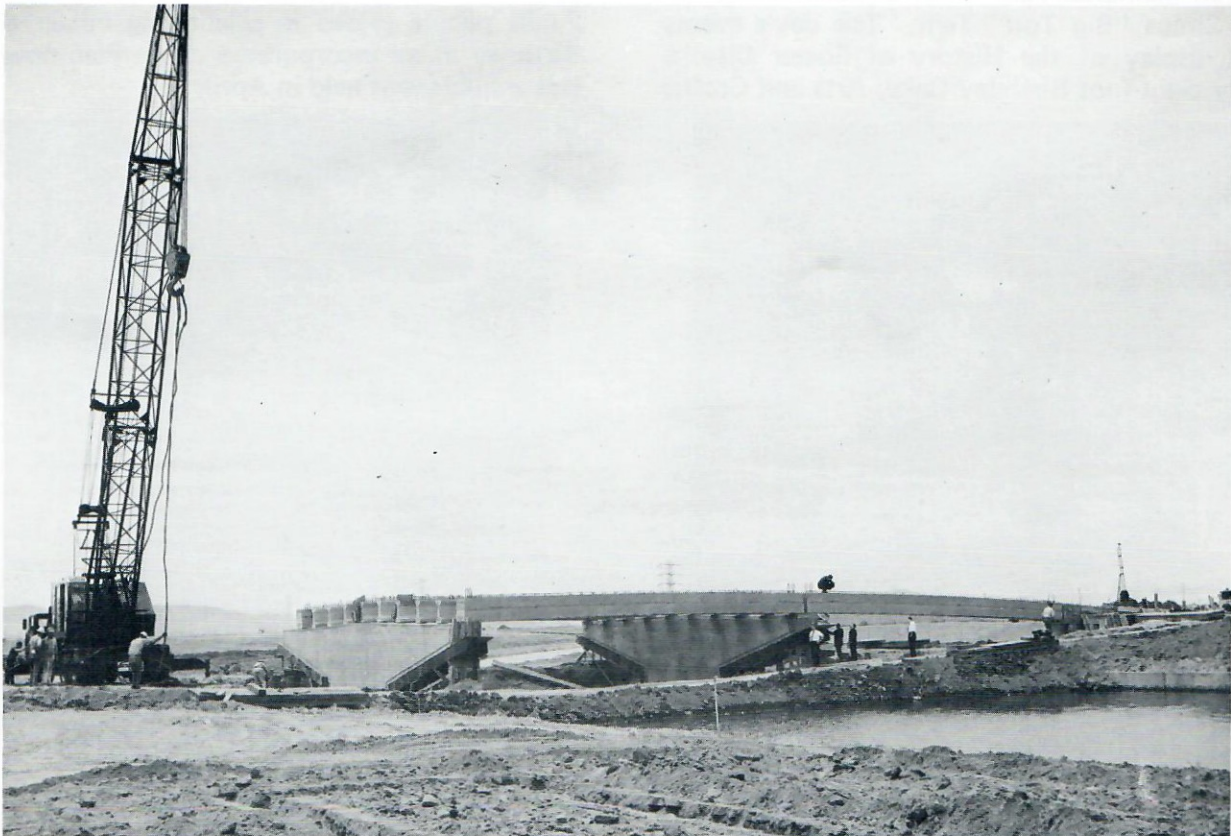

By 1971 there were more than 10,000 residents, and they voted to incorporate as a city. Since then, public facilities, commercial development, and numerous new homes have continued to be built. The City's population is estimated at 23,287 according to the 1980 Census.

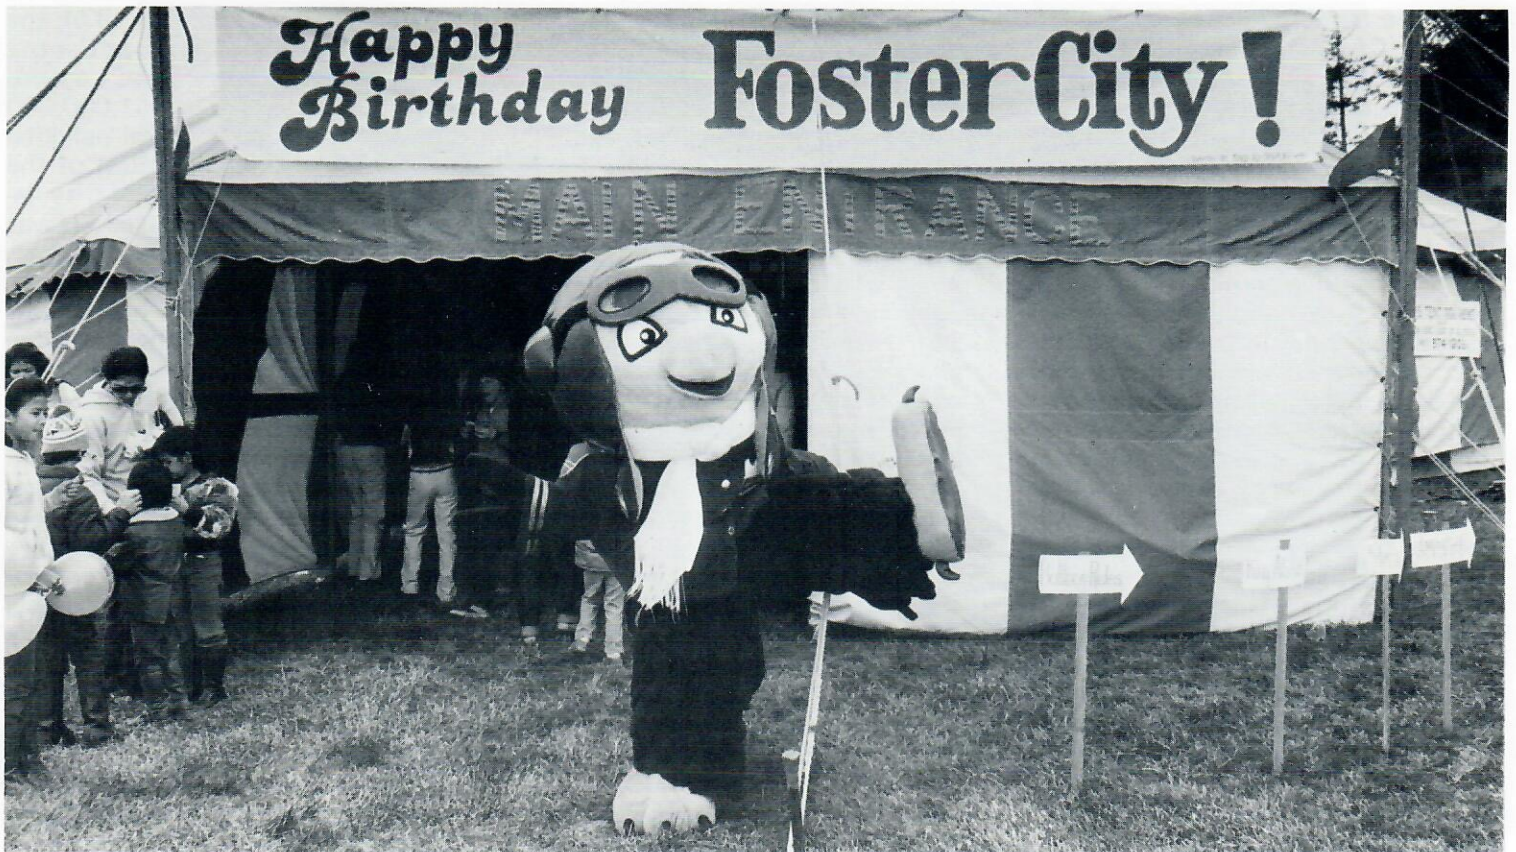

In 1972, the City opened a beautiful new City Hall adjacent to the public safety building. In 1974, the recreation center opened at Central Park on the shores of the Lagoon. Each building cost over $1,000,000 and both are architectural delights. In 1976, the fourth and last of the bridges crossing the Foster City lagoon system was completed. It was dubbed the Bicentennial Bridge.

Foster City has existed 17 years since the first homes were built. Different approaches to varying needs are obvious when comparing newer neighborhoods to the older ones. Foster City, unlike most communities, maintains overall control of both the concept and design of new construction. Through these procedures, Foster City can be sure development proceeds in an orderly manner with the added advantage that it is designed for today's market.

Those who were sure Foster City would fail have been disappointed. Foster City lives, grows and is strengthening into a community in which its residents have both faith and pride.

Foster City: A Community Celebrates

April 25, 1981 . . . A fun-filled day for the entire family held at Ryan Memorial Park in an 80-foot round red and white Circus "Big Top" Tent. The day's events included a display of the History of Foster City; a four-foot by eight-foot Birthday Cake; Arts and Crafts;

Dancers, band concert, clowns and pony rides; rescue of King Al G. Lagoon; and much, much more. Over 2,000 people joined in celebrating Foster City's 10th Birthday as an incorporated city. Plan now to attend this annual event held in April.

Foster City: A Business Community Designed For Today

Retail:

Foster City now has five neighborhood shopping centers to serve our residents. They are spread throughout the city for convenience and often are within walking distance.

The Port O'Call Shopping Center on Hillsdale Boulevard, the first in Foster City, is a four-acre complex providing parking for 200 cars and featuring the Safeway Store and Lock Drug Store. There are also eight other tenants. The agent for this center is T. Jack Foster & Sons, 1015 E. Hillsdale Blvd., Foster City, 349-1244.

The Marlin Cove Center on Foster City Blvd. covers 11 acres with parking for 600 cars. Key tenants are Thrifty Drug, Lucky Stores, the Bank of America, and California Federal Savings and Loan Association. The Center consists of nearly 20,000 square feet with substantial space available for professional tenants. For information about space, communicate with Liebes & Co., Palo Alto, 326-8310.

The Beach Park Plaza Center on Beach Park Blvd. at Marlin comprises three acres with parking for 144 cars and features numerous fine retail establishments. The agent is Beach Park Plaza Associates, 586 North 1st St., San Jose 95112, 286-6660.

Charter Square is located at the intersection of Beach Park and Shell Blvd. on a six-acre parcel of land. Designed to be enjoyed casually by shoppers and strollers, the village shopping square with 58,400 square feet of rentable space is extensively landscaped. Interior plazas include colorful kiosks, a sculptured timber fountain, a tot lot, trees and flowers. Parking is available for 310 cars. Charter Square's tenants provide a range of products and services. Leasing information: Cushman Realty Corp., San Francisco, 398-1970.

Edge Water Place is located at the intersection of Beach Park Blvd. and Edgewater on a nine-acre parcel of land. This center has 115,000 square feet of rentable space with open access to waterfront space. The Center has docking facilities for sailboats and a boardwalk which features shops built over the water. Among the major tenants are Alpha Beta, West Coast Federal Savings plus many other tenants offering a variety of services. For leasing information, contact Connolly Development, Inc., (415) 444-8858.

helping Foster City grow.

Industrial:

The industrial area of Foster City comprises approximately 392 acres with about 50% currently developed. Currently Foster City is the home of approximately 500 firms and many are international in scope and leaders in their industry.

Much of Foster City's business prospers and grows because our community is the ideal place to locate. With attractive homes, excellent climate, relatively clean air and ease of access, Foster City is in a favorable position to attract new enterprises. And, the projects described below can attest to that.

Town Center will be a major shopping center in Foster City, consisting of a market and drug store, plus numerous small shops. Located between Edgewater and Shell Blvds. and facing on Hillsdale Blvd., the shopping center will be part of a mixed-use development consisting of 1.4 million square feet of office space, 280,000 square feet of retail space and 700 housing units, plus a major hotel. The housing and retail part of the project is in a mixed-use area with housing over the retail/commercial spaces. In addition, a 2-acre park in the center of the project has direct access from all the shopping areas. For information contact Transpacific Development, (415) 893-7733.

Lincoln Centre . . . Lincoln Property Company has been Foster City's foremost office and industrial developer. One of the nation's largest real estate developers, Lincoln's Western United States Division, managed by Preston Butcher, is headquartered in Foster City. Ed Thrift has overseen the development of over a half-million square feet of office and office/warehouse space here.

Under the direction of Dan Levin and longtime Foster City resident Brenda Mooney, Lincoln Centre is the latest and most innovative of Lincoln's developments. Located at the intersection of East Third Avenue and Route 92, the project's large land area permits the creation of a special environment from within.

There is first class office space with lagoon and bay views. All second floor offices have sliding glass doors that open onto a balcony from which to enjoy the water views. There is also flexible office/warehouse space to accommodate firms with storage or light industrial needs. Extensive landscaping, several outdoor seating areas and two interior atriums enhance the park-like atmosphere of the entire project.

The first tenants will occupy Lincoln Centre in the fall of 1981. Leasing information is available from Brenda Mooney at 570-7500 or at the leasing office on Lincoln Centre Drive.

Peninsula Center, a Community Builders, Inc., development, offers 115,000 square feet of fully air conditioned, first class office space, featuring single floor sizes up to 27,000 square feet. This four-story office building, situated at a key intersection — Foster City Blvd. and East Hillsdale Blvd., should be ready for the first occupant in the Spring of 1982 and offers above average tenant flexibility and room for expansion. The first tenant to be Security Pacific National Bank and a full spectrum of other services. Ample free parking. For information contact Cushman & Wakefield, (415) 348-1801.

Other projects include:

Bridge Landing, a Specialty Restaurant Corporation development. This project consists of 14 acres fronting on San Francisco Bay and at the foot of the San Mateo/Hayward Bridge. There will be three large restaurants and offices all with vistas of the San Francisco and Oakland skyline. A seven-story, 350-room hotel and financial building will be at the new proposed interchange of Third Avenue and Highway 92. For information, contact Mike Mooney Associates, 349-0606.

Vintage Park, 126 acres which will bring together mixed uses of an industrial, commercial, office, retail and residential complex into a water-oriented, park-like setting which will harmonize with the rest of Foster City.

In addition, other fine office space is available. For information contact:

How to Use this Guide

This Guide to businesses serving Foster City has been divided into the classifications which the Chamber of Commerce believes are the most frequently sought by residents. Listings within each classification are alphabetized. If you have been given the name of a business and would like to look it up in the directory, refer to the index on page 54, which will tell you the page on which the business has its directory listing and the page on which its display ad is located, if one was purchased.

About Next Year's Directory

The Foster City Business Directory is published annually by the Chamber of Commerce and serves residents and businesses in the community by providing an easy-to-use listing of local businesses. If you have suggestions for making it easier to use or if you are involved in a business, association or organization which would like to appear in next year's Directory, contact the Foster City Chamber of Commerce, 558 Pilgrim Drive, Suite H, or phone 573-7600.

LIBERTY HOUSE

AN Amfac COMPANY

In a time when everything seems to be rising... We offer "Down to Earth" service.

Between interest rates and the cost of living, it seems that the cost of just about everything is going sky high. While that may be true... there's something else which also continues to rise... and that's the value of your home. Your home is still your best hedge against inflation... and RE/MAX wants to show you what that means to you.

We don't offer lofty explanations on the economy... we offer good old-fashioned down to earth real estate service.

Call RE/MAX today and experience the kind of professional expertise in service that's helping RE/MAX stand out "Above the Crowd" from all the others.
