Parks & Recreation Advisory Committee

A ten-member Parks and Recreation Advisory Committee, appointed by the Estero Municipal Improvement District Board, meets monthly to review proposals of the Parks and Recreation Departments programs and services. One of the Committees major functions is to make recommendations to the Estero Municipal Improvement District Board on policy matters affecting Parks and Recreation.

Because the Advisory Committee is made up of Foster City residents, it is a good sounding board for reviewing new ideas and for providing public feedback on programs and services offered by the Department.

The Advisory Committee has played a major role in the past year in reviewing the Parks and Recreation Center development plans and in providing guidance for the improvement of Parks and Recreation operations and services.

With the City Council and Architect, these citizens have undertaken the significant task of planning the Recreation Center scheduled for completion in February of 1974. The Committee also acts on all Municipal Parks and Recreation programs, activities and facilities including the future 77-acre Regional Park, Municipal Marina, and Pedway Park System.

The Advisory Committee has recently reviewed and recommended for approval by the District Board, development plans for Edgewater Park and is now working on the Boat Park Plans.

The Advisory Committee has been very active in providing overall guide lines and recommendations to the District Board for the enrichment of the leisure activities for the citizens of Foster City.

The public is invited to attend all meetings of the Advisory Committee, which are held regularly on the 2nd Wednesday of each month at 7:30 P.M. in the Civic Center. The members of the Advisory Committee want and encourage community expression of needs and interests.

Good luck with the new Community Recreation Center

This area also has an enclosed patio area for the children involved in the pre-school programs. Activities such as art, painting, story time, music, science, and games will comprise a part of the programs and activities taking place to promote a social experience for Foster City pre-school children.

Art & Culture Committee

The Art and Culture Committee has been very active during the past year in bringing several outstanding events to the citizens of Foster City.

Dedicated to the promotion of Art & Cultural Development in Foster City, this is a very representative cross section of our community with a wide range of talents. Coupled with talent is a dedication to service which has created a tremendously effective and cohesive group, and in a short time has contributed much to the community as was illustrated by the June 3rd Dedication of the new Civic Center.

The programs, "Arabian Night in Foster City," "Israeli Family Night," "Afro-American Festival," and the "Chinese New Year Celebration," has given us a glimpse into the lives of these different countries through the arts, dances, costumes and customs. Through the media of art and culture, this Committee has helped build that bridge to better understanding of the peoples of this community. The Committee has also produced a Music Showcase in June and a Pop Concert in November of 1973.

This Committee has been formally appointed by the City Council and among its goals are to plan several high quality programs and activities for local and area residents.

Not only has this Committee brought us successful programming, but they have encouraged families, friends, neighbors and the community into participation. Their enthusiasm is infectious and their efforts in the educational process through the inter-change of art and cultural programs in our community has exceeded all our expectations.

It is the Committee's hope to plan and conduct other art and cultural programs of a quality nature in the future.

Future Development

With the completion of Phase I of the Community Center, City Council and staff have already directed their energies toward implementation of the gymnasium and swimming pool complex to complete the Community Center Master Plan.

The gymnasium-swimming pool complex was introduced and incorporated as a part of the City Recreation Plan from the Ellis, Arndt and Truesdell, Inc. study of 1971. Area for the 11,000-square-foot gymnasium complex and 45' x 75' indoor pool has been reserved at the site.

Both Council and staff whole-heartedly agree that Phase I of the Community Center is one giant leap in providing Foster Citians a center of identification. The gymnasium and pool are needed to provide recreation to the degree that a full complement of leisure services be available to our citizens.

We welcome the new Recreation Center.

Youth Services Report

A blueprint for the improvement and future development of effective youth service programs was recently presented to the City Council by the City Manager, Al Marchuk. This report focuses on the status of current youth oriented programs, goals and objectives that will guide immediate and long term program development and specific action program proposals aimed at reducing the incidence of vandalism and related delinquent behavior. The Youth Services Report is the product of extensive interaction with City Departments (Recreation, Public Safety, Building & Planning) and cooperation with other cities and county authorities. The proposals set forth in the report reflect the best thinking of staff and the most suitable features of many similar programs that have been accomplished through-out the state. Recommendations for immediate action implementation include: Lighting for parks and public facilities; Expansion of the Youth Services Officer role (functions); and activation (creation) of a diversion program that will encourage parents, neighbors, and churches to counsel first and second offenders in order to offer every possible opportunity to minimize formal intervention by the criminal justice system. Objectives to be accomplished within the next 2-3 years include: operation of an independent Youth Services Bureau, governed by youth and community representatives that will be responsive to and responsible for programs of vital interest to the youth; operation of a Workcreation Program that will permit supervised youth to participate in improvement projects in public parks; and special consideration in the comprehensive planning process to economic development, transportation, and recreational facilities planning.

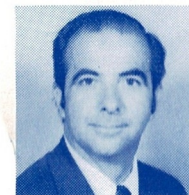

The report is a general policy guideline and it is the desire of the staff to receive input from the community that will be instrumental in shaping the action programs and future City policy. The staff is busy preparing specific recommendations of program implementation, funding alternatives, and methods of measuring achievement. Copies of the Youth Services Report are available in the Civic Center, 610 Foster City Blvd.
